N. Y. RETAINS SECOND PLACE

Exceeded Only by London in Census; Berlin Ranks Third.

By The Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 9.—Complete census figures for the five boroughs published today showed New York holding its place as the second city of the world in population, exceeded only by London.

The final count gives the American metropolis 3,357,732 as compared to 7,742,212, the last available figure for Greater London.

The population of New York exceeds that of any of the capitals of continental Europe, Berlin being third in the world list with 4,013,582. Paris has 2,838,419. Chicago with a 1920 population of 3,375,753 is second in the United States and fourth ranking city in the world.

During the decade since the 1920 census New York has acquired 1,338,744 additional inhabitants, the increase from the 1920 figure of 3,020,048 being a gain of 21 per cent.

Figures for the five boroughs show a decided migration from Manhattan to Brooklyn, the Bronx and Queens. Brooklyn is the largest borough with a total of 2,500,164, a gain of 23.6 per cent. Manhattan dropped from 2,254,193 to 1,850,430, a loss of 18 per cent.

Queens Borough on Long Island had the greatest increase in population during the 10-year period, jumping 170 per cent, which gave it a total of 1,082,212. The Bronx gained 73 per cent, going from 752,010 in 1920 to 1,300,794 in the present count. Richmond (Staten Island) is counted at 137,245, a gain of 35 per cent over its 1920 population of 110,541.

SENATOR SWANSON of Virginia, who accepts the theory that foreign nations should be allowed to tell us what ails us may have, says that reflecting the past would bring upon us the world's enmity and we should "lose moral leadership by reflecting that past."

There are many things more important than moral leadership, and they include airplanes, submarines and fast cruisers.

POSTOFFICE VETERAN IS AIR MAIL FAN

ree the practice become more generally used by private citizens as well as business and industrial institutions. A letter for California mailed Friday at 8 p. m. here will be at its destination Sunday 4:30 a. m., he points out as proof of the advantage, as compared with the requirement of something like four days when sent by regular postal methods.

The progress made by the Railroad mail service is regarded by Mr. Uncapher as one of the biggest projects of the postal service. In the early days the mail between the postoffice and the depot was hauled in a push cart by the late William Woodcock.

The Big Four and Erie depot was then located where the building owned by the Amlen Co., on Mill street, now stands, and the old Rocking Valley depot was located where the new union station stands. During the fall of 1913 the Pennsylvania railroad started handling mail for the Marion office.

Mr. Uncapher stamped letters by hand for few years and was justly proud when at the end of that period a hand-power cancelling machine was installed. He reported for work at 6 a. m., being the only clerk in the mailing division and called it a day along about 2:30 or 3 p. m. With the growth of the office the work done by Mr. Uncapher now requires six men. He took the examination for work in the postoffice just after finishing his course in a country school and a business course in the Marion Business college. He was known as a mailing clerk first and during the first term of Postmaster M. B. Underwood was made money order clerk. On July 1, 1913, Mr. Uncapher was made superintendent of mails and his duties are the supervising of the incoming and outgoing mails. He rounded out his thirty-sixth year as an employee of the Marion office Jan. 1, 1920, serving during the administrations of Mr. Fugelson, John H. Thomas, J. B. Fisher, Mr. B. Dickerson, P. T. Campbell and the present postmaster, French Crow, Mr. Fugelson, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Fisher, he described.

Mr. Uncapher is a descendant of two pioneer families of Marion county. He resides at 435 North Main street.

Besides those ordered installed in Marion county the commission ordered more than 80 other crossings in Ohio equipped with the same type of signals. All of them are to be in operation by Aug. 1.

WILL PROBE SLAYINGS

By The Associated Press. BATAVIA, O., July 9.—Clermont county grand jury will meet Friday to investigate the slayings of John Spencer, 22, of Cincinnati and Fred Sweeney, 48, of Marion.

Spencer was shot to death Saturday after an alleged quarrel with W. Henderson Boshers over Boshers' wife, Sweeney was slain on the farm of Bird Hays, 10, near Gosport, where, officials said, he had gone to demonstrate with Hays because of the latter's attentions to his daughter.

HONESTY REWARDED

Harry returned them to the hotel whence he had taken Miss Hall, then broke the seal and returned them to her on the boat and got a reward.

OHIO ATTORNEYS OPEN CONVENTION

Important Legislative Proposals on Program of Bar Association.

By The Associated Press. CEDAR POINT, O., July 9.—Gathered here today for their thirty-first annual mid-summer meeting, members of the Ohio State Bar Association had before them for consideration a list of committee reports containing far-reaching proposals to reshape Ohio's legal system.

The first report recommended revision and recodification of the state insurance laws. Others dealt with probate court laws, statutes affecting motor vehicles, and judicial and legal procedure. If approved by the convention, the reports will be submitted to the next legislature for action six months hence.

In proposing amendment of the insurance laws, the insurance code committee argued that the present statutes are obsolete, entire one, passed half a century ago, providing a penalty of a fine and 30-day jail sentence on "bread and water" for representing an insurance company which had not paid its tax.

Approximately 200 official delegates will have a vote in the business sessions.

All Republican and Democratic candidates for state and senatorial offices were invited to address tonight's session.

A feature will be a debate between State Senator George H. Bender, of Cleveland, and State Representative Dallas Sullivan of Union county as to the merits of Bender's proposal for restricting the state for members of the general assembly. Bender has contended that rural districts hold the balance of power under the present system.
